The struggle of religion, new weapons and new ideas make this an interesting period combining as it does the Ancient world and Modern world of gunpowder and shot. Can you fight your way through the chaos of the Renaissance, will you be a rising Machiavelli of a modern European power, or the Shogun of a rising Japan, you pick the army that takes your fancy in this most colourful and diverse of periods.

War of the Grand Alliance

Louis the 15th and his struggle with William this indecisive struggle between to emerging Empirical powers led ultimately on to the continuing hostility that led to France and England fighting a century and half of warfare.
The age of elegance, science and intrigue with a myriad of small states and large super powers, this struggle is truly awesome. A period encompassing warfare from as far as India, America and Europe, it really deserves the title of "THE FIRST WORLD WAR". A truly excellent period both to play and paint, with a beautiful array of uniforms from both the familiar states of France, Prussia, Austria & Britain but also the countless Duchies & Principalities of Europe and Asia.

The New World in revolt, can you turn back the pages of history and keep control over the vast continent so far from home, or as the indefatigable rebel can you push back the professional armies of the rising super power, England. To gain your Independence can the rag tag army of freedom bounce back and in the end win the final victory. Only the dice will tell… Plus a good plan, a bit of luck and an army of fine miniatures from below, and a bit of paint!

REVOLUTIONARY WARS (CIRCA 1792)

The events of the late 1700’s rocked the world and changed the face of warfare, the modern conscript mass army had been born and national fervour released. The combination of Seven Years War doctrine and Napoleonic tactics makes for interesting games.

NAPOLEONIC

A truly enormous conflict that saw the rise of history’s most enigmatic genius, Napoleon Bonaparte, with his unique perception and grasp of tactics he dominated the period until overwhelming odds tipped the balance of power so far that even Napoleon’s star couldn’t help.

The clash of huge armies in this period and the fear of Napoleon’s name lead this to be a great era for grand cavalry charges, mass infantry attacks and even greater personalities such as Marshal Ney, Sir Thomas Picton, Prince Murat, etc. So with an army in hand can you strike fear as a Napoleon or are you more likely to be the terrorised allies only time and the battle plan will tell………

The Napoleonic wars are fast fading and the Armies of the Industrial Age engage in the first War of this new age, a war with all the problems of the colonial wars they had faced but against an enemy far more stubborn and with similar technology. In this war encompassing inept Generals, brave last stands and frantic charges in desperate situations, we have a colourful combination of armies from the Cossacks to the Turks, from the thin red lines to the bright dashing Zouaves, more than enough for an exciting campaign or an interesting battle.

Sikh Wars

A bloody conflict in two wars fought with bravery and tenacity on both sides, a colourful conflict that earned both sides the respect for each others fighting prowess.

Indian Mutiny

A war of incredible heroism and bravery, or terrible slaughter and vengeful murder, of last stands, siege and battle. This turbulent time saw many great leaders and some militarily incompetent ones, can you as the British retake Delhi, or as the Indians can you defeat the relief columns heading for Cawnpore. This period is great for the small scale action to the battles and sieges of thousands.....

After the Napoleonic Wars the fear of conflict led to a period of relative peace between the great powers, until the latter half of the Nineteenth century when over a period of less than 40 years all the great powers had suffered to some degree the ravages of war. The range is designed to reflect this time of mass armies; colourful characters and the last wars fought using outdated Napoleonic tactics against ever increasing technological advances.
AMERICAN CIVIL WAR

A house divided the worst sort of war, Civil War, a conflict streaked with actions both large and small ideal for the wargamer both from the one off battle/ re-enactment to the campaign battles we all enjoy, with the added incentive of simple uniforms to paint, large armies, colourful characters and interesting battles.

25mm Medieval

The Hundred Years War saw English hopes of an empire fall, rising high on the achievements of one monarch only to have those hopes dashed by the mistakes of another. This fascinating conflict with its sieges and set piece battles to border skirmishes, lending itself with its belligerent nobles to campaigns, for the conquest of France or just the taking of a local castle.

25mm NAPOLEONIC

A new historical scale and hopefully a bargain you cannot resist, so if you are doing that refight leading the divisional assault on the Pratzen Heights or just a battalion commander holding out against overwhelming odds perhaps we can supply you with the reinforcements you need to tip the balance in your favour, you have to face it at these prices even Napoleon couldn’t resist, and perhaps 1813 may have been another story………..

2) Matt or Gloss varnish

Large items i.e. tanks; etc will be quoted for when requested.

Basing of 6mm figures now costs £4.00 per pack.
Designer Armies in 15mm

Our designer armies have proved to be very popular since they were introduced a few years ago and hope that you will see our prices give you the best value around with the maximum amount of flexibility. The armies can be made up from several different periods and armies, using one or more figure manufacturers, and if your armies exceed the 100pc or 100pc unit figures can be costed by pro-rata.
